HAVE RECEIVED A LARGE SUPPLY OF THE

SWAN FOUNTAIN

HE "Swan" is a Mable, Todd & Co. Gold Penjoined to a subber reservoir to hold any kind of ink, which it supplies to the writing point in a continuous flow. It will hold ink enough for two days' constant work, or a week's ordinary writing, and can be filled with as little trouble as to wind a watch.

With the cover over the gold nib it is carried in the pocket like a pencil, to be used anywhere "A purchaser may try a pen a few days, and, if by chance the writing point, does not suit his hand, exchange it for another without charge, $4 EACH, WITH FILLER COMPLETE.

THERE ARE VARIOUS POINTS TO SELECT FROM, BROAD, MEDIUM AND FINE. The Gold Pens in the "Swans" are Mable, Told & Co.'s famous make. They are 14-carat tempered gold, very handsome, and positively unaffected by any kind of ink. They are pointed with selected polished iridium.

They are a perfect revelation to those who know nothing about Gold Pens. KELLY & WALSH, LIMITED, QUEEN'S ROAD CENTRAL, HONGKONG.

HONGKONG SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1891

EXPLOSIONS IN THE LEGIS-LATURE,

Ir is an old maxim of statecraft that weak and foolish ruler often does more permanent good than a stronger man, for ability would in his own interests have genius voluntarily exposing the seamy side of his own imperial cloak. But all of weak and foolish rulers, whose very will offer it to him-if he be well advised Shipping Consolidation Ordinance, 1891,7 defects have facilitated the exposure of avile, and thus led to great reforms.

these weak and foolish men. He is a man of and collectively, adopting their advice only energy and good-will, and perfect freedom | must take from them-it cannot be helped. from self-interest, meanness, or bigotry. He | Only this, and nothing more. Let this week is apparently free from all the usual vices | be a lesson to the Unofficials, to the -is not cross-eyed nor spavined, nor Administrator, and most of all let it come afflicted with bile. But he is no statesman. to the notice and very careful consideration He does not profess to be, though in his of Governor Sir William Robinson. capacity of Officer Administering the Government of Hongkong he is apt to forget that soldiering is all he knows. He has no idea of the intricacles of administration, and thus there has crept in during his short tenure of office a friction in the machinery of Government, intensified at each meeting until it could only be described, as his Excellency himselfagreed, in the words of the Hon. PHINEAR RYRIE:-

We have had too much of this. I have been twenty years a member of this Council, and I have never seen anything like this until now. It is at the first blush a great pity that things should have come to such a pass just now, for in three weeks our new Governor will be here, and General THE French iron-clad Triomphants left Woosung further consideration, it turns out to be the best thing that could happen-not for this well-meaning but mistaken soldierman, but for the general benefit of the Colony. For an inquiry into the cause of the friction exhibits so many beautiful morals. The first factor in the problem is that the Unofficial Members have certain views. It does not affect the case to say what views they are, or on what subjectthey are Unofficial views. The next factor is that the whole Acting Crowd oppose them. Why? The Governor does so because he is told, and the other men follow him. Why is he told to do so? Because the Official Members are built that way. Mr. MITCHELL-INNES gave himself away horribly, and we thank him for his candour:--

"It is most unfortunate that his Excellency cannot entirely dispense with the services of the Unofficials."

He denies having used those words, but he proceeds to plunge further:--"When the Unofficials begin to oppose the Government it would be well if their services were dispensed with."

Thanks. That is just the spirit which was so violently repudiated only a few days back by Mr. Goodman (who probably did not realise that it is after all the true view of the Officials). Now we have you know sometimes I cannt tell a mule from a it asserted boldly and confirmed, and no doubt if the other Officials would analyse their own feelings and really know their own minds, they would all join in the chorus-sotio voce. But they don't.

We cannot blame them. We are not alow to blame when it is deserved, but we cannot blame them, for they are human. The Constitution of Hongkong sets out that the Council shall consist of a majority of Officials, appointed practically by the Secretary of State, and entirely under his thumb, while he again is under the thumb of the home constituencies. The Unofficial minority may attend the meetings of Council as a special privilege, and may speak a little, but not much; they may pretend to vote, and a pretence o recording their votes is made. But such is the Constitution that all they may do is of as much use as expectorating down the crater of Vesuvius. The process is very similar too.

Under such a Constitution, then, the Le Unofficials might just as well not attend. It is surprising that they persist in going up to the Council Chamber day after day and trying to assert themselves, just for all the world as if they expected they could do it. Still, as that is the position of affairs, it would be much better friction could be avoided. The Unofficials ought to try. They know the menrather, "dummles"-that they have to deal with; they know the constitution. and they know the General; and they ought to try better than they do to pull smoothly. It is needless to repeat hi Excellency's remarks in justification of his ateam-roller action in to-day's meeting, The Unofficials heard him, and must see that his was a very reasonable prima facts case, even though nothing more. They ought to see that, and to be more considerate in future. He means well, and should be encouraged. As to the Officials and their share in the unseemly wrangle, it is useless talking to them, "depends upon the sincerity or insincerity of the MITCHELL-INNES is past praying for. tar-brush would make a white mark although it may not come at once. The populaon him. The others are hardly bad, but still hopeless enough in all with an incapable headpiece the flaws and conscience. The Acting Colonial Secretary incongruitles of the Constitution are more and Acting Harbour Master are quite new easily seen, whereas a ruler of greater importations, and as yet hardly count. The only really intelligent, sensible man in AT the meeting of the Legislative Council to be kept them out of sight. London ":--Having viewed so often the bril lant side of London's social life, it occurred to me that I would take a view of its dark side. One Sunday morning in a garb which was a cross between that of a costermonger and a pickpocket. I traversed the Whitechapel district. It was a sight impossible to see anywhere clse in the world. The streets were so crowded that it was almost impossible to wedge your way through. Every few feet was some merchant, male or female, selling cast-off clothes or household furniture. I saw rags held up there for sale that nowhere in America would find any place except in the ash barrel, and the axhman in picking it over would refuse to carry it home. Such poverty, such misery, such wire chedness, such a seething furnace of ignorance; and all that attends upon hop-lessness. I never saw before and never expect to see again. I felt that this great city, with its magnificent palaces, with evidence in part of it of the largest wealth, the greatest luxury, the most liberal expenditure, rested upon a volcano which hly needed the force of civilization to bring upon it a catastrophe which would shock the world. Miscrable as these people have been always, their misery is a thousand-fold intensified by pauper immigration. Great Britain has established no barrier, as we have, and imposed no rules whatever. "It is the dumping ground for all Europe for misery which must starve or go somewhere. It goes to London and competes there with a condition so much better than its own that in the wages it accepts, in the work it does, it is reducing the B-itish working men and women of the great cities to a dangerous point for British peace and prosperity. It is a esson for us to take to ourselves whether the barriers which we have already should not be increased, and whether notices should not be sent all over the world that " we have sympathy, we have humanity; but keep your paupers at

It may be said that £5,000 is a monstrously extravagant sum to pay a baseball player. So it is, but a man's worth is what his attainments will fetch in the market. A jockey's fee for a winning mount is £5, and for a lading ride £3. In addition to this jockeys re cive very handsome presents from their masters, and to those who think that lockeys are now-a-days munificently rewarded I would say that such a thing was not unknown in the old times. When Tradington won the Derry, Sir Joseph Hawley gave Marson, his rider, £7,000; and it is said that when Blue Gown was victorious, Sir Joseph presented the whole of the stakes to Wells. professional cricketers as a cines are underpuid. Alfred Shaw may receive his £12 per week as a "couch" from Lord Sheffield, but the average professional cricketer does not earn more than 40s, to 50s, a week. The best professionals of the day only receive £5 for a three days' county much. In many instances this is increased to £6 for a win, and the clever player has the chance of i earning the talent money for sorunt—a sovereign -but even then they are as a class not too liberally remunerated, remembering their expenses. In some few of the big matches, such as England and Australia and Gentlemen v. Players, the fees to professionals are doubled, which is, of

That was Grace's price. Lord Sheffield offered the professionals £250 spiece, and all expenses paid. The only men who refused those terms were Shrewsbury and Gunn, who did not see why Grace should receive so much and why they, in proportion, should be asked to accept so little. As Guon and Shrewsbury have each a business of his own to look after they preferred to remain in England. This was the rough and ready explanation of the sport. Well, the play began, and it had not been long: in progress before the ball was sent into an adjoining field. Still the colliers kept on charging and enjoying the rough and tumble until the instructor said, "stop, stop, the ball's in next fie'd," when one of them replied, "near moind th' ball, let's ger on wit game." FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD.

A REWARD of $500 will be paid to any person supplying information that will lead to the discovery and identification of a Chinese girl named Li AFAT, who, in or about the month of September, 1888, was resident at St. Francis Street, Wanchal, in the house of JOHN MINHINNETT, an overseer in the Hongkong Public Works Department, under the protection of a Chinese kept woman named WONG AH

LI AFAT is about to years of age, and according to a declaration made by WONG AH NGAN at the Magistracy, she was returned to her mother about three years ago presumably to some village in the Kwangtung Province, where it is stated she died a short time after-

On the other hand JOHN MINHINNETT deposed on oath in the Supreme Court that LI AFAT was sold by WONG AH NGAN and that he was present in his own house when the purchase money was paid; and it has since been reported that the girl was taken to Singapore forimmoral purposes.

A Reward of $250 will be paid to any person who shall produce reliable evidence, showing that LI AFAT was returned to her mother, in or about September, 1888; and afterwards died as
